VTA welcomes continuity in transport and infrastructure portfolios

The Victorian Transport Association has congratulated Deputy Prime Minister Michael McCormack on his retention of the key transport, infrastructure and regional development portfolios, as announced yesterday by Prime Minister Scott Morrison.

“Michael McCormack has approached the transport and infrastructure portfolios with great enthusiasm since he took them on early last year and we are thrilled that there is continuity of leadership in these important ministries in the returned Morrison Government,” said VTA CEO Peter Anderson.

“We’ve valued the relationship and dialogue we’ve established with the Deputy Prime Minister and his team and his interest in the VTA and the transport industry more broadly has been keenly felt through his attendance at numerous VTA and industry forums, where he has listened to and acted on the challenges we are confronted with.

“We look forward to building on the constructive engagement with the Deputy Prime Minister, and to advancing the agenda of our members and industry with other cabinet members whose portfolio responsibilities impact the freight and logistics sectors,” Mr Anderson said.
